

DRAW BY NUMBER

Brontosaurus (bront-oh-SAWR-us) weighed as much as eight elephants. Because he was so heavy he must have made a noise like thunder when he walked. That is why he was named "thunder lizard." Brontosaurus was renamed Apatosaurus (uh-pat-oh-SAWR-us) when he was reassembled with the right head. He was a herbivore which means that he ate only plants. Perhaps they traveled in groups to protect their young by

